

Stainless Steel Industrial Scoops

Designed for heavy usage and hygienic applications.

Sani-Lav Stainless Steel Industrial Scoops are engineered for demanding hygienic applications involving powders, granules, and sensitive materials. Manufactured from heavy-duty Type 304 stainless steel for enhanced corrosion resistance, these scoops feature a fully welded, seamless design with large radiused corners to improve cleanability and help eliminate areas where contaminants can accumulate.

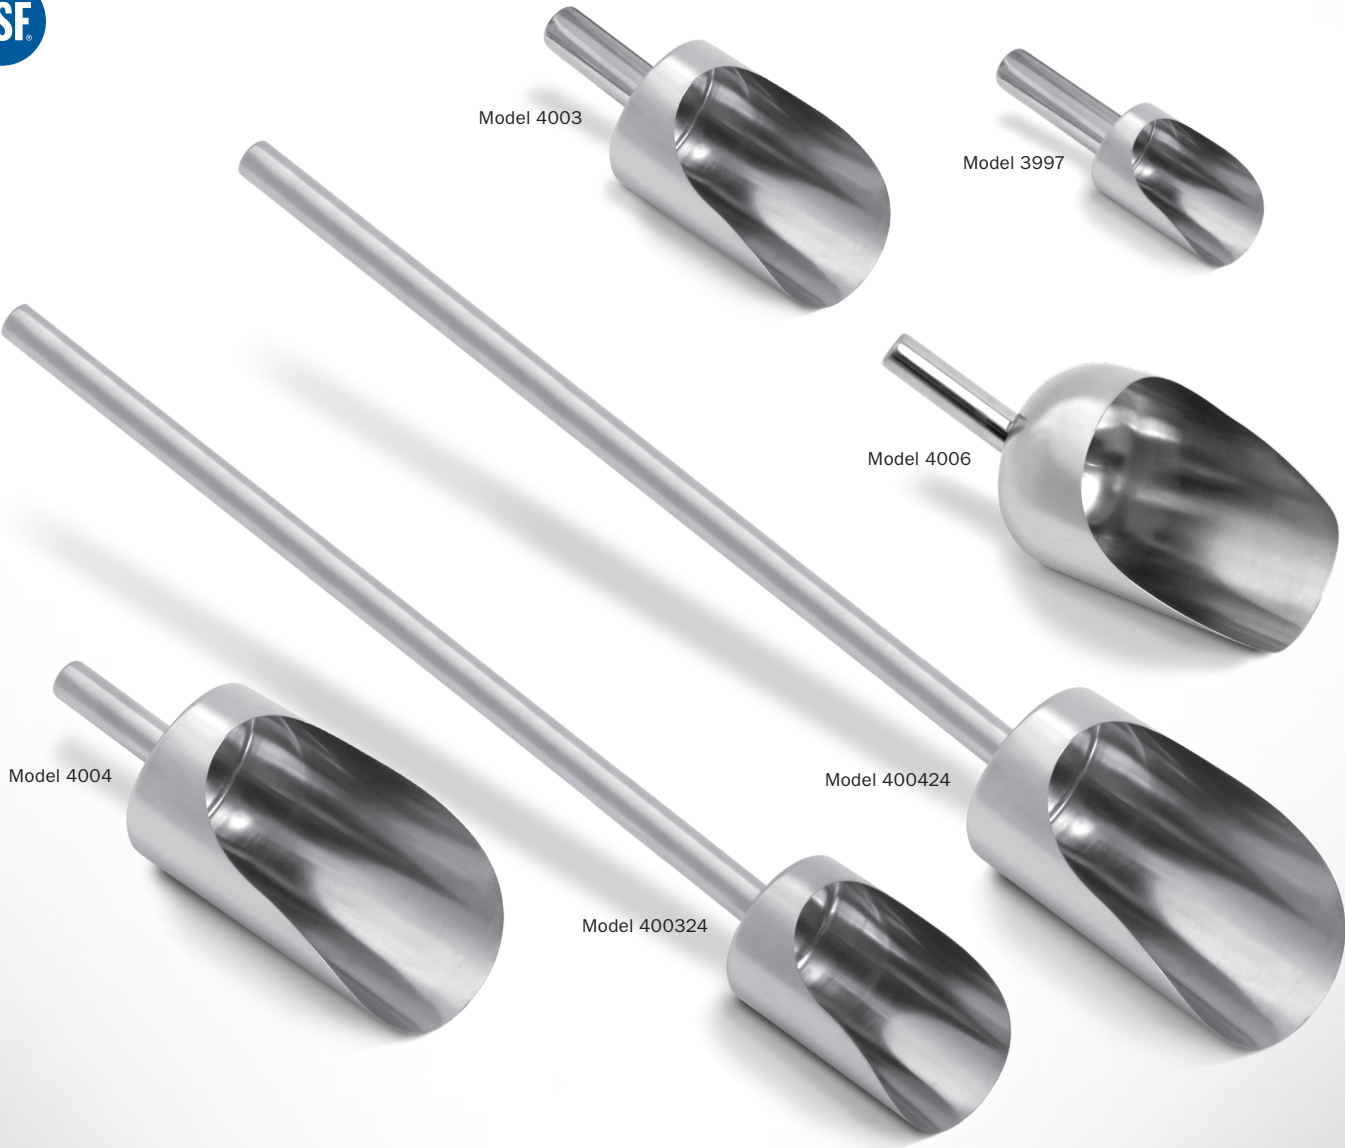

Features and Benefits

- Heavy-duty Type 304 stainless steel construction for superior corrosion resistance
- Fully welded sanitary design eliminates gaps and crevices
- Seamless construction with large radiused corners for easier cleaning
- Smooth surface finish helps reduce material buildup and contamination risk
- Designed for handling powders, granules, and sensitive materials
- Straight and curved handle configurations available
- Available in multiple capacities and extended handle options
- Designed for FDA, USDA and NSF compliant environments
